DR. MILNE'S MEETING.

Rousing Addresses by Dr. Milne and Messrs. Beaven, Fell and Grant.

A Convincing and Crushing Reply to Theodore Davie from Mr. R. Beaven.

The meeting called by Dr. Milne in the Victoria Theatre last evening was well attended. It was moreover a lively meeting which gave the electors either a good hearty laugh or stern facts to think about. There was a good deal of enthusiasm and it was quite evident that the electors, and the very best class of electors at that, were in splendid fighting trim.

When the curtain rose the following were seated upon the platform: Dr. Milne, Robt. Beaven, M.P.P., John Grant, Mayor and M. P. P., ex-Mayor Fell, Messrs. Alex. Wilson, Geo. Powell, Richard Hall, E. B. Carmichael, R. H. West, R. B. Escourt, John Boyd.

The meeting opened by Mr. Alexander Wilson being elected to preside. On taking the chair Mr. Wilson said he was satisfied that Victoria would elect Dr. Milne. (Applause.) He was a good moral man. He took a deep interest in the welfare of the province and was interested in many important enterprises throughout the province. Taking him morally, physically, intellectually and politically, Dr. Milne was a whole man. (Applause.) He was a candidate who would stand up for our rights, when need be, whether it be from the Dominion government or any one else. He begged to introduce Dr. Milne, the opposition candidate.

Dr. Milne, on stepping to the front of the platform, was received with loud applause. He said that having been solicited to seek election for the seat now vacant, he had accepted with some diffidence. Many questions were likely to arise which would require careful attention on the part of the legislature. It was time, he thought, that a change should be made in the government of the province. He appeared before them as an opponent of the Robson government, and he asked the support of the electors on the broad ground that a government led by John Robson was not acceptable to the people of Victoria. (Applause.) Mr. Theo. Davie put forward the railway question, and announced as his claim upon the people that he would construct the Canada Western Central as a government scheme, simply to catch votes. Great strides had been made on the proposal to build this railway during the past year. But the statement that it would be a government question, coming from a government of which John Robson was premier, was open to grave doubt. The constituents of that gentleman, and the papers of Vancouver, have opposed the construction of the road, and it was not reasonable to believe that Mr. Robson would take a course opposed by a majority of those who elected him. He (Dr. Milne) was in favor of the road, as he was of any road making Victoria its terminus. (Applause). He did not advance this because he was now seeking the suffrages of the electors. During a recent visit to the east, he had spoken to several members of the Dominion house, among others to Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, upon all of whom he had impressed the necessity of building the railroad. He had also at a public meeting a few days ago, in seconding a resolution moved by Mr. Drake, spoken in favor of the Canadian Western Central and quoted his remarks as reported in the TIMES as follows:

Dr. Milne being called upon by the chairman seconded the resolution. He spoke in favor of the scheme and thought it our duty to urge upon the Dominion and local governments to grant aid to the project. In some quarters objections were raised that the Victoria, Saanich, & New Westminster Railway would interfere with the construction of the Canada Western Central. This would not be the case, as no doubt the Western Central would be built in time. He believed that not only our own members but many members of parliament in the east were favorable to the construction of the Western Central. During his visit last year in the east he had conversed with several members of the House of Commons, among whom was the Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, a man who is well known to be well informed on such matters, having been minister of railways during his own administration. That gentleman assured him that the Western Central would be built and that at no distant day steps would be taken to forward the scheme. Such an opinion coming from a man who is no doubt well posted as to the difficulties of the construction of such a line, went a long way to assure me that the Western Central Railway would be projected and completed in time.

It was no new idea to him to advocate this road, and he did it because he believed it to be in the interest of the country that the line should be built. (Applause.) Referring to the act granting to the company a subsidy he quoted the clauses defining the quantity of land granted (alternate blocks on each side of the road 20 miles square) and reading from the incorporation act he mentioned the names of the incorporators—Messrs. R. P. Rithet, Thos. Earle, F. S. Barnard, H. P. Bell, E. G. Prior and Hon. James Reid—and claimed that with such men at the head of the enterprise the contract would be certain to be carried out. The clause in the act, No. 7, which read: The terminal workshops and other structures, works, docks and equipments suitable for the terminus of the railway, shall be erected in the immediate vicinity of the harbor of Victoria or Esquimalt, as may be most convenient to the company"—had been introduced by Hon. Robert Beaven and had not the support of Mr. Davie. The capital stock of the company was fifty millions, and power was given to municipalities to make grants of land and otherwise assist the enterprise. The company had three years from the passage of the act to commence and eight years afterwards to complete the work. With these provisions were the promoters not likely to bring the road to successful completion sooner than Mr. Davie? How could Mr. Davie say that his government would be in power three years from now when construction is to begin? How could he say that Mr. Robson would be in power one year from now? (Applause.) With the acts passed, and with the assistance that would be obtained at Ottawa, there was little doubt about the accomplishment of the project. He was in favor of a reasonable grant for this purpose. The project would have more influence at Ottawa in the hands of its promoters, such as Senator Reid, Mr. Prior and Mr. Barnard, than could be given it by two or three Mr. Davies. (Applause.) Referring to the school question, he corrected an error in his address. He was, he said, in the habit of telling the truth in private life, and he was going to do the same in public. (Applause.) The original act introduced by Mr. Robson, he had received at the time as a trustee. It read that one-third of the "expenses" of the schools were to be paid by the cities, in addition to one third of the salaries of teachers. He was not aware, at the time of writing his address, that the clause had subsequently been modified, and that it now read one-third of the salaries, "expenses" being eliminated. The principle of the act, however, was still the same. [Hear, hear.] Mr. Davie had also said considerable about a clause which it was asserted he (Dr. Milne) had endorsed as a trustee. A committee of the board of trustees had been appointed to interview the government. This committee was composed of Messrs. Ferguson and Henderson, and their authority was the following resolution passed by the board on the 14th Feb., 1889:

"That a special committee be appointed by the board to interview the educational department and to urge the necessity of providing increased accommodation and other improvements for the schools."

This was all they were empowered to do, but they brought back a report, one clause of which had been read by Mr. Davie. Those two gentlemen went over to the house during the meeting of the legislature and Mr. Robson, no doubt knowing what was coming, suggested that this clause should be incorporated in their report. The following was the portion of the report objected to:

Your committee also suggested to the Hon. the Minister of Education, the advisability of placing the appropriations for city schools to the credit of the respective school boards in towns and cities, and to so amend the School Act as to enable them to supplement the amount by levying a school tax on the municipality.

That report was never acted upon by the trustees, but they objected to the bill before it became law. Mr. Robson wanted something to fall back upon as an argument, and he has since used this recommendation of that committee in the house and elsewhere. Every person knows that the trustees condemned the action of the government. By electing Mr. Davie you elect to pay between six and seven thousand dollars more than you are paying at present, as the government propose to take from you one-third of $18,954. Looking at the average cost of education in the province, Victoria already pays more than her share. The cost per pupil in Victoria was $20, while at Langley it was $44; Lulu Island, $64; Spence's Bridge, $90, and so on in rural districts. Looking at these figures no one can say that Victoria is receiving more than her fair share of educational advantages. The trustees of Victoria only tried to supplement their funds to assist in paying incidental expenses, and he could remember advising the passing around of the hat to assist in this purpose. But Mr. Robson had purposely misrepresented their object. [Applause] In his address he had said that the Provincial Secretary was making the schools a political machine. At page 134 of the statutes it would be found that Mr. Robson had passed a clause giving himself power to summarily suspend a teacher, thus abrogating the duties of trustees. The trustees had very little power before, but now Mr. Robson had taken to himself the power to dismiss teachers appointed by the trustees and without consulting them. This was simply an outrageous measure (applause). He had on several occasions urged the necessity of endowing a university, and he always had found that Mr. Robson gave them very little encouragement, and although two blocks of lands in every surveyed district had been set apart for educational purposes, he (Mr. John Robson) had kept the trustees in ignorance of the fact. It was the custom in the east as in the United States to endow education and it was right to do it here. (Applause.) He would endeavor to secure the calling of the China steamers and was of opinion that if the local government had pushed the matter as they ought, it would have been now secured. Referring to an article in the Colonist, of Sunday some misstatements had been made, one of which was to the effect that he (Dr. Milne) was one of the provisional directors of the V. & Saanich railway. On the next page the Colonist printed the Saanich by-law in which it set forth who are the directors of the road. He could hardly believe that the editor of the Colonist could make such a mistake but such was the case. If he were a director of the V. & Saanich railway, he would not be ashamed of it. Last spring when the promoters of this road were pushing through their charter at Ottawa he subscribed $250 to assist them and he was willing to give one thousand dollars to any company making Victoria its terminus. I suppose they wished to supplement my name for the Hon. J. H. Turner, who is one of the provisional directors of the company. There were other questions in the Sunday issue of that paper requiring correction but he would not refer to them now. Some adopt the maxim that "all is fair in politics as in war." He had endeavored in private life to adhere to the truth and he intended following the same course in public life. He therefore refused to accept the base maxim that all is fair in politics as in war. There were words written many years ago, which are just as true to-day as at that time: "Sin is a reproach to any people." He believed we should do nothing in private we would be ashamed to divulge in public, nor should we do anything in public or political life we should be ashamed to make known in private. The laws of truth, the laws of justice, the laws of fair play should exist in the sphere of politics as in any other. It is only by adopting these principles, by practicing them by ourselves and enforcing them upon those who are around us, that we can raise politics to a higher level, a level on which they should be deemed one of the noblest pursuits of a free citizen in a free country. (Great applause.)

Hon. Mr. Beaven was received with loud applause. He said before proceeding to address you on the electors, I cannot help referring to the peculiarly disgraceful treatment received by Dr. Milne at the hands of Mr. Davie. Dr. Milne was invited to come to the meeting, and after arriving was not so much as invited to take a seat upon the platform, and Mr. Davie occupied nearly the whole evening in speaking and thoughtless that the audience. None of you, I am sure, would think of asking a man like Dr. Milne to your house and then never offer him a seat. (Hear, hear, and applause.) Now I am sure that you, like myself, if you attended Mr. Davie's meeting, must have gone away greatly disappointed in that Mr. Davie did not state definitely the policy of the government on the Canadian Western railway. Mr. Davie contented himself with reading extracts, and a speech delivered by him in the house, but which, although I have sat many years in the legislature, I failed to recognize. (Laughter.) Nothing was said which afforded food for discussion, excepting by that very worthy gentleman who occupied the chair. He informed the audience that it would be a great misfortune if Mr. Davie was defeated, a national calamity in fact. I think I can show that so far from this being the case that it would be a public misfortune to return Mr. Davie to parliament.

Taking up the subject of railway construction, the speaker went back to crown colony days and traced up from the inception of the Canadian Pacific Railway scheme, the course of events. An overland railway came into existence as a means of bringing about confederation. Incidentally, he might say, it was a most unpopular thing to support the party in favor of confederation. Unfortunately for himself he was one of those who did favor it and was sec-

QUESTION OF FISHERIES.

Ottawa, Aug. 14.—Up to date twice as many modus vivendi licenses have been taken out this year as last by United States fishermen. Sir John Macdonald says this is an admission on the part of the United States fishermen that they have no right to enter Canadian waters for the purpose of bait, supplies, transshipment, etc., without paying for the privilege. A prominent government official said yesterday that this modus vivendi was a clever trick on the part of Sir Charles Tupper to get the United States fishermen to pay for that which they had hitherto thought they were justly entitled to.

BOULANGER'S REELECTION ANNULLED.

Paris, Aug. 13.—The state council has annulled the elections in twelve counties in which Boulanger was elected counsel general, on the ground that he was not legally eligible for the position. General Boulanger has written a letter wherein he states that the sums of money which he is accused of embezzling he gave to the chief clerk in the war department, to be used for the relief of widows and orphans of soldiers. Five lodgers in the house of Madame Poinpre, former mistress of General Boulanger, have sworn that the General was in Paris on July 15th, 1887, the day on which it is alleged he visited the city in disguise.

THE NEWFOUNDLAND TROUBLE.

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—The government received a letter from the colonial secretary of Newfoundland expressing deep regret at the Newfoundland authorities at the refusal by one of their officials to recognize the modus vivendi licenses held by the American fishing vessel Putnam from the Dominion authorities, contrary to the agreement between Canada and Newfoundland that one government would recognize the other's licenses. The case has attracted considerable attention on the Atlantic coast. The Newfoundland government say the refusal occurred through a mistake.

STONE MEN IN A CAVE.

Aspen, Col., Aug. 13.—The Minnie mine, on the Aspen mountain, was the scene of a discovery on Saturday that has produced more excitement in camp than the richest strike in Aspen district. On Friday evening the night shift drilled two deep holes in the breast of the 500 foot level and touched off the blast just before coming to the surface. On Saturday, upon returning to the mine, they found that the blast had blown a passageway into a beautiful cave. The walls are covered with crystallized lime and lead and stalactites projecting from the ceiling. The party passed along into another cave of similar beauty, then crossed a pool of fresh water and came to a third chamber, in which they were startled to find a petrified man with a flint axe by his side. Other stone men were found all in the same position. They were seated with their heads on their knees and their arms clasped around their legs. In attempting to lift the mummies the men broke off the arms and discovered that the figures would crumble unless they were carefully handled. The figures are supposed to be people who preceded the Indians on this continent. The mine is surrounded by hundreds of people all anxious to explore the cave.

MORE HOPEFUL.

London, Aug. 13.—Mrs. Maybrick yesterday had another long interview with her mother who was permitted to remain in her cell for several hours. The condemned woman is much better to-day than she has been at any time since the death sentence was pronounced. She has been assured by all who have access to her that everything possible is being done to save her from the terrible fate which stares her in the face, and she has in a great measure recovered her spirits and now looks more hopefully to the future. The petitions to the Home Secretary on her behalf are assuming immense proportions, hundreds of people in different parts of England having interested themselves to secure signatures. Petitions were circulated in all the churches in Liverpool to-day, the ministers taking pains to explain to their congregations that the statements that the expense of the defence had been borne by Brierly, the unfortunate woman's paramour, were untrue.

ENGLAND'S POLICY IN EGYPT.

London, Aug. 13.—In the House of Lords to-day, Lord Carnarvon addressed an inquiry to the government as to their policy in Egypt. Lord Salisbury replied that the government's policy in dealing with Egypt remained consistent throughout and recent events had not altered a hair's breadth. The country had improved during England's occupancy. It was impossible to fix a limit at this time for the occupation. England has assumed certain definite obligations in Egypt and she must fulfil them.

CHAMBERLAIN SPEAKS.

London, Aug. 13.—Chamberlain delivered a speech at a garden party in Birmingham this morning in which he took occasion to sneer at the Parnellites' efforts to obtain Home Rule. He expressed himself as bitterly opposed to the candidacy in Birmingham of Lord Randolph Churchill, which, if successful, would strike a blow at the Union. He also denounced the policy of the Liberals

A Fine Instrument.

Messrs. Goodwin & Jordan shipped to-day a beautiful upright piano to Nanaimo Bros., Campbell river. The instrument, which was one of their own manufacture, is beautifully finished and of excellent tone. An expert who tested the piano on behalf of the purchasers, informed the reporter that it was far superior to the imported article in every paraticul and calculated to keep in order for double the length of time. The firm are filling orders for several instruments which shows that their work is beginning to be appreciated as it should be.

Civic Nominations—Public Dinner to be Tendered Hon. Dewdney.

[Special to THE TIMES.]

New Westminster, Aug. 14—Nominations to fill the vacancies caused by the resignations of Mayor Hendry, Aldermen Scoullar and Townsend have been announced to take place at noon on Saturday next.

A public meeting takes place this evening to make arrangements for giving the Hon. Edgar Dewdney, Minister of the Interior, a public dinner on the occasion of his visit here this month.

At Westminster Junction, yesterday afternoon, a long pile of wood belonging to the C. P. R. was ignited by a brand from a bush fire and was consumed. The Pacific express was delayed two hours in consequence of the flames.

Ben. Douglas, president of the New Westminster Southern railway, has just received the following dispatch: "Tacoma, Aug. 14.—Report is entirely false. On the contrary we are putting on all the men we can get. The report probably means the Ship Harbor road or Seattle Northern, as I understand they have discharged their entire force." Signed, Nelson Bennett.

CROFTER SETTLEMENT.

The Colonization Committee and the British Columbia Proposal.

On Friday, last week, says a London paper of the 25th July, the Select Committee of the House of Commons on Emigration and Colonization, Mr. Ritchie, President of the Local Government Board, presiding, had Mr. Alexander Begg, the colonising delegate of the British Colonial Government, under examination respecting the proposed settlement of Crofters in the province. Mr. Begg stated that he was the son of a farming crofter in Caithness, and he had taken a great interest in the question of emigration and colonization. The classes proposed to be selected under the British Columbia scheme were principally fishermen and farming crofters in the Highlands and islands of Scotland, besides a certain number of tradesmen. It was intended to form communities of fishing villages, good land being attached to the locations. The original proposal was that the British Government should advance the sum of £150,000 at a certain rate of interest, the Government of British Columbia guaranteeing repayment of the capital and interest. The scheme was restricted to 1,250 families, so that £150,000 would give £120 for each family emigrating. In 1885 he had an interview with the Secretary for Scotland, the Chancellor of the Exchequer and the First Lord of the Treasury, and the Treasury offered to advance the money on condition that its repayment was guaranteed by the Government of British Columbia, with interest at the rate of 3½ per cent. The Government of British Columbia were willing to accept these terms on condition that they got five years free of interest, but they did not receive a definite answer from the Treasury; and an alternative proposal was then made by British Columbia for the advance of £150,000 at 2½ per cent. interest, the payment of interest being deferred for five years. If the money were advanced, he believed a colonization scheme could be successfully carried out. The scheme was capable of much greater extension, and there was room in British Columbia for five or six times as many colonists as they proposed to send out. The industries of the Province were waiting to be developed.

The Colonization Committee has decided it will be impossible to finish the inquiry this session. It will, therefore, simply report the evidence, and recommend reappointment next session.

WANTS TO CONTROL THE POLLING STATION.

Mr. Theodore Davie has rented a portion of the Philharmonic Hall, the building chosen by the returning officer for a polling station, as his election committee room. The room taken by Mr. Davie is the old library room on one side of the narrow passage way leading to the polling booths, and is a part of the same building that will be used for the election. Mr. Davie is Attorney-General and ought to know the law. The polling station is for the use of the officers, candidates, clerks or agents, and electors, and can be put to no other use. The entrance to the ballot box, if Mr. Davie is permitted to outrage the law and good taste, will be through a crowd of Davie's paid agents and canvassers. The indecency of a candidate for the office of Attorney General thus taking possession of the polling booth might be tolerated, but the illegality of the Act cannot be winked at. We call upon Sheriff McMillan, the returning officer, to do his duty in this matter. The polling station is for the electors and for the electors it must be preserved. The conduct of the election is in the Returning Officer's hands, and it is his duty to see that a free and untrammeled vote is recorded. We are sure that we have only to call his attention to the above facts to have the contemplated outrage on the freedom of election defeated, and in the only way it can be defeated—by turning Mr. Davie and his friends out of the building. And, furthermore, the electors require an assurance before the day of voting, that this has been done.

MESSRS MILNE AND BEAVEN.

Between the speeches of Dr. Milne and the Hon. Robt. Beaven, the Attorney-General, the Hon. Theo. Davie, and in fact the government were badly flattened out. Dr. Milne stated his case concisely and clearly, leaving no doubt in the minds of his hearers as to the soundness of his political views, and the integrity of his intentions in respect to the interests of Victoria and the province in general. Mr. Beaven followed the doctor, reviewing the history of railway building in this province and completely demolishing Mr. Davie's pretentions of being a railroad man. Mr. Beaven, who is not anything if not methodical and thorough traced the history of the Canadian Western railway bill, from inception to finish, and pointed out that only for his (Mr. Beaven's) exertions the clause in the charter requiring that either Victoria or Esquimalt should be the terminus would have been omitted. That such an omission should have happened at all will strike people as passing strange and further that the lynx-eyed Mr. Davie, who is spoiling to assume the crown of martyrdom in Victoria's interests, if need be, should have failed to note it, and make protest accordingly is one of those things which no fellow can understand, or will ever be able to understand from any explanation likely to be vouchsafed by the government. Theo. Davie is a railroad man, he is spoiling for a transcontinental railway; he accepts the Attorney Generalship only on the condition that he shall be permitted to toot the railway horn; and yet Mr. Davie and the Provincial Secretary both would have granted a charter to the Canadian Western, which contained no stipulation to the effect that Victoria or Esquimalt should be the terminus of the line. The failure on the part of the acting Attorney General to detect such an oversight as this is either the effect of stupidity or treachery. If the former it disqualifies him for so important a function as the Attorney Generalship; if the latter it brands him as unfit for the confidence of the electors in any capacity, no matter how insignificant. Mr. Beaven told the whole story; how he insisted that the clause making Victoria the railway terminus should be incorporated into the charter, and how he received neither aid or comfort from either the Hon. Mr. Davie or the Hon. Provincial Secretary. Such a denouement as this, coming from any man other than the Hon. Robt. Beaven, might well be accepted with a grain of salt. Mr. Beaven's veracity, however, is not to be impeached, and the humiliating fact stares us in the face that there is nothing in Mr. Davie's assertations to warrant belief in the integrity of his alleged railway policy, or in fact, in anything political doctrine he may profess. But the marvelous feature of Mr. Davie's attitude is that he should have had the effrontery to raise the railway issue knowing, as he must, or should have known, that his record was sure to be overhauled. Could Mr. Davie expect anything else so soon as he aspired to a position of responsibility than that his legislative actions would be scrutinized? But what is more singular still as showing the Attorney-General's utter ignorance of the logical consequence of things was his making the railway question an issue. The railway question was understood to be settled. The action of the government in subsidizing the Canadian Western had lulled all suspicion that the cabinet might "in their hearts" be opposed to the enterprise. Mr. Davie, however, by reviving the railway matter, laying stress on the fact that he entered the cabinet as a railway man at once set people to inquiring, and the inevitable conclusion of such inquiry was that a railway hobby horse to ride ranted by the temper of public opinion. Had Mr. Davie been a into an important office on was not justified by circumstances, nor warshrewed man he never would have raised the railway issue at all. His policy would have been to "let sleeping dogs lie." Mr. Davie, however, blundered, he gave Mr. Beaven a chance to let the cat out of the bag, and it is a fair proposition that the man who blunders in his own interest will blunder in the public interest. A monumental blunderer is the mildest appellation we can apply to Mr. Davie at this juncture. If we were to follow up the line of Mr. Beaven's argument we should be able to prove him a Judas, and the Provincial Secretary into the bargain. But it is only necessary for our purpose to prove the twain incompetent. The electors of Victoria will scarcely have the stomach to endorse men so mentally opaque as the two cabinet ministers we have just sketched.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Columbian reads us a lecture as to how John and Theo. should be addressed, and advises us "to assume a virtue if we have it not." This is just exactly what is the matter with the gentlemen in question and our contemporary, they assume virtues which they have not. They thank God that they are not as other people. When John and Theo. and the Columbian drop their false virtues we will take the trouble to address them with the courtesy they will then deserve, and not before.

The Dominion Government has appointed a number of experts to investigate and report on the recent oil discoveries in Athabasca. A gentleman who has returned from the district reports that there were lately discovered seventy-one different springs of this article within a radius of five hundred acres, and the indications are that the quantities are inexhaustible and the quality first-class, two or three separate analyses having shown 91 per cent. of lubricating oil. The position of these springs is not, as was generally supposed, in the Crow's Nest Pass, but within a short distance thereof and about sixty miles from the railroad. Two or three gallons of the crude petroleum just as it was scooped off the water were brought in to be tested.

The Horological Journal discourses pleasantly on sun-dials. It quotes Charles Lamb, who surmised that Adam had one in the Garden of Eden. Sun dials should be more common in our gardens, as they are capable of association with much pleasant sentiment. They are used in a few cases in place of gravestones in private burials. The French are very fond of them, and our earlier gardeners of the Bartram sort always set them up. Our pleasure grounds are too tamely alike. Besides fountains and sun-dials, we might adopt the Japanese rock lantern or iskidore, as described by Morse in his delightful book on Japan. These are for night decoration, and are expensive, as well as capable of great play of imagination in their structure.

The Provincial Secretary, with a candour which but ill comports with his reticence in matters of greater interest to the public tells us that if Mr. Davie is beaten in Victoria he has a country constituency to fall back on. This in substance is equivalent to a menace. It is in effect, we propose to make Mr. Davie Attorney-General by hook or by crook. To us the rejection of Mr. Davie by the people of Victoria has no moral force, he will immediately offer himself for a mainland constituency. The man beaten in Victoria, who would take the next steamer for the mainland to become the candidate of another district, is possessed of neither pride or moral perceptions worth mentioning, and the district which would endorse Victoria's discomfited demagogue would be a fit subject for disfranchisement.

How Mr. Davie will succeed in explaining away his failure and that of the Provincial Secretary's to supply the clause in the Canadian Western Railway charter to the effect that Esquimalt or Victoria be made the terminus of the road, is more than honest people can understand. Mr. Beaven requested these gentlemen to supply what he was willing to regard an oversight, but which was really a deliberate attempt to betray the interests of this city, but the gentleman failed to respond. Mr. Beaven was compelled to do himself what really belonged to the Attorney-General to do. If, in view of such damaging revelations as these, coming from an unimpeachable quarter, Victoria can continue to support the Hon. Theodore Davie, or the Premier, the Hon. John Robson, she is simply beside herself—is in fact too biased to be able to cast her votes intelligently.

LABOUCHERISMS.

Apropos of much that has lately appeared about the Duff family, a book which remains to be written is a genuine and true history of the Peerage of the United Kingdom. The large volumes of romance and fiction styled "Peerages," at present circulating in the kingdom, are completely ridiculous and thoroughly misleading. With regard to modern creations, their audacious annihilation of facts is sublime. And the moral of many of these fictions is so bad—at least, from Sir W. Lawson's point of view! The descendants of Kings, Crusaders, &c., who sink to being pedlars, laborers, and domestic servants, even, through the vicissitudes of fortune, have apparently such special aptitude for returning to their original noble condition through the medium of brewing and blending strong drinks!

—Thos. Sabin, of Eglington, says: "I have removed ten corns from my feet with Holloway's Corn Cure." Reader, go thou and do likewise.

—There is comfort in store for persons troubled with lame back, rheumatic pains, corns, or bunions, who commence without delay, a course of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, followed up systematically until relief is obtained.

—F. Burrows, of Wilkesport, writes that he was cured of a very dangerous case of inflammation of the lungs, solely by the use of five bottles of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Feels great pleasure in recommending it to the public, as he had proved it (for many of the diseases it mentions to cure) through his friends, and in nearly every instance it was effectual.

—The Laws of the Medes and Persians were not more immutable than those of nature. If we transgress them we suffer. Sometimes, however, we break them inadvertently. Damages frequently take the form of Dyspepsia, Constipation and Biliousness, which can be easily repaired with Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, the Great Blood Purifier and renovator of the system.

—A lady from Syracuse writes: "For about seven years before taking Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspepsia Cure, I suffered from a complaint very prevalent with our sex. I was unable to walk any distance or stand on my feet for more than a few minutes at a time without feeling exhausted, but now I am thankful to say, I can walk two miles without feeling the least inconvenience." For Female Complaints it has no equal.

NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT CHANCELLOR Browning, Commissioner for the C. P. Now, may it please Your Lordship, I have never offered for sale any lots in said Lot 526, for that would be deception on the public, as the highest legal authority in British Columbia pronounced the title to that lot stone—not one cent as consideration having been given. Now, if Your Lordship will sign Your wig and recover from your drop-asleep on Blackstone and the laws of colonial pen will be able to see that the four judges who threw your case out of Court last April were fully able to comprehend the difference between Stated Pre-emption Record 1036, the basis the Registered Nuwsun of my land of English flag. Come down and see us I have a few corner lots (with a smattering of coal) for sale. I mean to sell, and the public will assist in buying them, notwithstanding Your Lordship's decision. Things will move just the same at English flag.

All parties are hereby warned that Agnes and Smith have no title to Lot 526 till confirmed by the Legislature, and till using with the law.

retary of the confederation association. Said Mr. Beaven: A delegation was sent by the government to Canada to consider terms for confederation with Canada, and Dr. Helmcken was one of them. One of the terms of union provided for the construction of a railway connecting this colony with the Dominion. I had a conversation with the doctor when he came back. He had at one time been opposed to confederation. I asked him, now that he had been there, how he liked the Canadians. He replied that they were a singularly fine people (applause). In the terms of union it was stated that the railway should terminate on the seaboard of the Pacific, a very indefinite expression you will see. I contended that it should have been specially stated that the harbor of Esquimalt should be made the terminus. Dr. Helmcken replied that of course "any railway coming to the Pacific coast will be compelled to come to Esquimalt." As I feared, there was no end of trouble about this matter, and with what result you all know. [Applause.] When the bill of the Canadian Western Railway Company came before the house there was no clause compelling the company to build their workshops and terminal works or make their terminus at Esquimalt or Victoria. In fact they could have taken their terminus to Alberni, Beechey Bay or any other harbor. I spoke to Mr. Ritchie on the subject and he promised that the clause should be inserted. The matter, however, went on, but when the bill came from the private bills committee the clause was not inserted. Mind you, I do not wish you to understand from what I may subsequently tell you that there was any deception on the part of Mr. Ritchie, for on the contrary he was as anxious as I was myself that such a condition should be part of the bill. I thought the matter over and decided to speak to one of the members of the government about it. I told him I did not wish our conversation to be either private or confidential and that I wished to speak to him on a matter of great public importance. He listened to what I had to say, expressed himself as feeling that it was a matter which should be attended to and promised to give it the fullest consideration. When the bill came up for a second reading the clause was still out of it. I went to the minister again and asked him what was going to be done in the matter. He said that it was impossible to put such a condition in the bill, that if the people of Victoria wanted to secure the terminus and terminal works at Esquimalt they must put their hands in their pockets and bonus the railway and then they could make their own conditions. No doubt the company would want to make as much out of the terminus matter as they possibly could. I thought this was rather rough on Victoria, considering that she had one of her representatives, Mr. Turner, in the cabinet and two other members, Mr. Theo. Davie and Mr. Duck supporting the government. When the bill came up for consideration in committee of the whole, I knew that this was the time to insert a clause if it were possible. I therefore moved the clause which is now in the statute and which provides that the terminus, terminal works and workshops shall be at Esquimalt or Victoria. (Loud applause.) A condition therefore, which the government said it was impossible to insert and which was of vital importance to Victoria, thus became part of the bill (applause). So far as Mr. Turner or Mr. Davie are concerned they never uttered a word nor so much as held up their finger for it. [Hear, hear.] Yet you were told last night that the sickly opposition could accomplish nothing, that this Mr. Davie and Mr. Davie alone could do anything to assist you in securing the Canadian Western Railway. [Loud applause.] Notwithstanding what the worthy chairman said last evening, I consider that it would be one of the most unfortunate things for Victoria to return Mr. Davie at the coming election. Proceeding, Mr. Beaven pointed out that no government could be formed in British Columbia that would announce as its policy that it was opposed to the Canadian Western scheme or to the construction of another overland railway over this route. Mr. Davie's announcement that the policy of the Robson government was to aid in the construction of a northern railway as far as resources of the province would permit, might mean anything or nothing. There were nineteen members to support the Canadian Western scheme, without including Mr. Robson or Mr. Vernon, and although no doubt both those gentlemen are hostile to the enterprise in their hearts, when it came down to supporting it or leaving the Cabinet, they decided to stick to the Cabinet. [Loud applause.] What did the late lamented president of the council say of Mr. Robson's course towards this railway, in almost the last speech he made in the legislature? He characterized the provincial secretary's conduct as that of "duplicity." Is, therefore, a government, led by such a man as Mr. Robson a proper one for the people of Victoria to support. If you want a man to bring a question to a successful issue would you employ a man whom you know in his heart is hostile to the enterprise? If you re-elect Mr. Davie you support the Robson government (Hear, hear). Mr. Robson is the premier and can dictate to Mr. Davie the course he must pursue or leave the cabinet. The best thing you can do is to defeat Mr. Davie and by that means bring about the defeat of the Robson government. (Applause). If you really wish to see an overland railway terminating at Esquimalt you must put men into power who are sincere in their heir advocacy of such a scheme. Certainly Mr. Robson and Mr. Vernon are not, but will do everything in their power to prevent it. [Hear, hear.] He did not know that it was necessary to say any more than had already been said on the school question. The proposition of placing a special tax on the cities, he contended, was calculated to create antagonism between the country and the cities and that this antagonism would be one of the first things to break up the present free school system. [Applause.] I do not like to decry any gentleman's ability, said he, but certainly Mr. Davie was very unfortunate in the legislation he has introduced since he has been a member. Taking last session alone, he introduced three acts to amend the Supreme Court Act. The first he quietly dropped, the second was ruled out of order by Mr. Speaker on a point taken by me, the third never got further than the first reading (laughter). He introduced an amendment to the County Court Bill which was so defective that even his friends had to kill it on the second reading. He introduced an act to establish a Pharmaceutical Association, which also was rejected on the second reading. This, I admit, is a pretty rough record on the future Attorney-General. (General laughter.) This Times evidently caused Mr. Davie many sleepless nights. In its criticisms of his Supreme Court Bill, it had pointed out that if it had unfortunately passed the legislature the greatest confusion would have arisen in the courts of the province and the administration of justice. If you are so foolish as to elect him there is no knowing the injury he may do in tinkering with the laws of this province. [Applause.] Mr. Davie tries to make you believe that his principal object in life, now, is to secure the construction of another overland railway. I have shown you that he has allied himself with men who are antagonistic to that scheme. You must now remember that there is a vacancy on the Supreme Court bench, and that whoever occupies the position of attorney general of the province is generally offered the position on the bench when there is a vacancy. Is it not a fair inference, that Mr. Davie's principal object in life is more likely to get himself elevated to the bench and to be able to address Mr. Justice Walkem as "My Brother Walkem." [Great laughter.] If Mr. Davie should be offered a position on the bench I am afraid Dr. Helmcken's visions of an overland railway, through Mr. Davie's exertions, would vanish into smoke. [Applause.]

Concluding an excellent speech, he urged every man to exercise the franchise fully, fearlessly and conscientiously, and of the ultimate result he had no fears whatever. Mr. Beaven retired amid loud applause.

Ex-Mayor Fell, who spoke with old-time order and enthusiasm, said he appeared upon the platform because of some remarks made by Dr. Helmcken at Mr. Davie's meeting. He was one of those who had, as the doctor put it, the "impudence and cheek" to stand here and oppose Theodore Davie, and he had good grounds for doing so, for he (Davie) was totally unfit for the position of representative. He knew Theodore Davie almost as well as Theodore knew himself. He had known him for twenty-seven years, watched all his movements and he had not improved any. He had met Dr. Helmcken and he had told him that he was ashamed of him for the company he kept. Like the Vicar of Bray, who changed his religion with every government, many of those who occupied seats on the platform at Mr. Davie's meeting changed with every administration that came into power. [Great laughter.] He took an interest in the school question — he cared nothing for politics and only desired to serve his fellowmen — and he wanted to see our schools preserved free from politics and church influence. (Applause.) Digressing for a moment, Mr. Fell referred in scathing terms to the conduct of our Ottawa representatives. He reminded them that every move of John Robson had been to the injury and detriment of the schools. Politics now run the schools from top to bottom. The last move was to make every teacher an agent to prop up the government. Honest John has Charlie under his control and he also has Mr. Wolfenden there as his supporter. (Applause.) The school system has no right to be costing $140,000—there was a gigantic leak somewhere. They once had a superintendent who was an independent man; now they had two and he (Mr. Fell) would not give four bits for both of them. (Applause.) There were men in the House pledged to break up the free school system, pledged to introduce separate schools and Theodore Davie was one of them. (Great applause.) He will deny it but it will be of no use for no one will believe him. (Applause.) After a spirited address he closed by advising the electors to place Mr. Davie in Davy's locker—just where he should be—and from the loud applause with which the advice was received it was evident the electors are determined to do so.

Mayor Grant considered it would be cruelty to ask the audience to sit much longer this evening while the issues of the day were being discussed. During the very few minutes he would ask for a hearing he would call attention to the pernicious school impost upon the cities. For the part he took in it the attorney general should not receive enough votes in this city to make a corporal's guard, so not enough to make pall bearers at a respectable political funeral. (Laughter and applause.) The excuse for inflicting this tax was that it was advised by the city school trustees. Now there are six trustees and would the government be justified in imposing a special tax on the people on the advice of six gentlemen? I think not (loud applause). An appeal was made to the generosity of the people themselves. Inasmuch as the cities were rich it was said it was but fair that they should contribute to the support of the schools. If the hat were passed round, I have not the least doubt but the generous people of Victoria would act with the same liberality as they do for all worthy purposes. The Premier in addressing the meeting Monday night was sure the electors would do nothing so "foolish and suicidal" as to elect a member in opposition to Mr. Davie. Nothing "foolish and suicidal." Now, gentlemen, what does that imply? It implies that unless you elect Mr. Davie the government will punish you; it means that your interests will be neglected unless you do as Mr. Robson tells you. Now, I ask you as honorable, independent men, if that is the kind of man who should occupy the position of premier in this province? [Loud applause.]

After a vote of thanks to the chairman and a few parting words from that gentleman, the meeting dispersed.

A MUCH-FELT WANT.

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—As Birdcage Walk is the principal avenue leading to Beacon Hill Park and the beach, the most frequented portions of the city, some steps might be taken to make that otherwise beautiful street more passable and pleasant. As it is at present, and has been all summer, the dust in the vicinity of from five to six inches deep and rises in clouds from every passing vehicle or gust of wind that blows. Should the city not be able to find it possible to water that street once a day during the dusty season, why could not the residents along that beautiful avenue allow their dear Chinamen to use their garden hose for five minutes each day upon the street? It is a fact that the residents living along Birdcage Walk all possess a garden hose, and it is a fact that they leave it running upon their gardens or a little plot of grass almost continually, both day and night, so that it cannot be said that to turn the hose on the street for a few minutes each day would be a waste of water. Water used in this way would be used to good advantage and do the public a great benefit instead of being wasted as it is at present and has been all summer on little 10x20 plots of grass. And now that we are on the eve of an election one would imagine that by an act of this kind some of those politically disposed disciples might avail themselves of a capital opportunity of displaying some of their much vaunted philanthropy to very great advantage and bring down the blessings and good wishes of the multitudes who pass that way. Oh, do let some of the precious needful fall out over your fences and I can assure you it will not be "casting bread before swine," but to a grateful and ever appreciative public. Thanking you for space, etc., I remain yours, etc., Prodigy.

Each member of the party, in the boat at the time of the accident, comes from Cape Breton. Tutty was a married man, and leaves a wife and five children to mourn his loss. Cassell's Royal is the pride of Nanaimo, and the Oregon horse has never been beat. All lovers of good horses racing should witness this race for a sweepstake of $100 each.

Changed Around.

The steamer Olympian made a round trip to Tacoma yesterday, arriving here at ten o'clock last night. It was the North Pacific's day for arriving, but Capt. Roberts said last night that the steamers had changed days for sailing so as to enable the Olympian to lay over here on Sundays. The worthy captain of the latter steamer appreciates the shuffle.

The Usual Grass Fire.

At 6:30 o'clock last evening a telephone message was received at the central fire hall for a grass fire on the east side of Maplehurst, between Blanchard and Quadra streets. The fire was caused by small boys with matches. Mr. Dossher's house was saved by a number of workmen passing along at the time the fire occurred.

New Brick.

The announcement in these columns a short time ago that a new brick building was to be erected on Yates street next to the Pritchard House, has taken definite shape. Tenders for the same are called for, to be handed in by the 21st of the present month. The building is to be two stories and the owner is Mr. Wm. Dalby. The site is a desirable one, always commanding good rents.

Paid Fire Department.

The chief engineer of the Victoria fire department received the following communication this morning from Vancouver:

DEAR SIR,—We are about to start a paid fire department in this city and with that object in view I have been instructed to ask you if you will kindly send us a copy of the rules and regulations governing your department. Also kindly give me a list of the salaries paid and oblige, THOS. G. MCGUIGAN, City Clerk.

Emphatic Voting.

It always happens that in marking ballots a certain number are worthless from incorrect marking. A case of this sort was noticed yesterday while the ballots for James Bay ward were being counted. An ex-member of the judiciary, who probably has voted scores of times during his residence here of thirty years, marked his ballot in the "aye" space by writing his name in full. Whether it was done as a joke or whether he was proud of voting aye, or whether ignorance prevailed, is unknown to us.

The Presbyterian Alliance.

A goodly number were present to hear Professor Blaikie speak on the work and object of the Presbyterian alliance at the First Presbyterian church, last night. Rev. Mr. McLeod introduced Dr. Blaikie who said, "It gives me great pleasure to speak on this line of work in which I am so deeply interested. At a Presbyterian convention held in Philadelphia in 1870 the matter of meeting the various branches of the Presbyterian church was purposed; there were at this time 60 or 70 of these branches. Steps were soon taken on the line and the first convention of the alliance was held at Philadelphia in 1880, the second in Belfast in 1884, the third in London 1888 and the next will be held in Toronto in 1892. The main objects of the alliance are to promote the acquaintance and brotherhood of the Presbyterian church throughout the world, to bring the power of the strong churches to help the weak (as in the case of the Waldensean, and Hungarian churches where £15,500 and £3000 were subscribed) and to unite the work of all Presbyterian missions." Dr. Blaikie also gave an interesting account of the work of the Presbyterian church since the time of the reformation. The importance of the alliance will be seen from the fact that it comprises about 23,000 congregations with a membership of over 20,000,000 souls.

Reporter's Photos.

Mr. A. B. Graham, manager for Crowell & McClure, photographers, San Francisco, has been prospecting Victoria for the last week in search of unique and abnormal specimens of humanity for photographic reproduction. He had about abandoned his search in despair, and was on the point of paying Vancouver a visit when he happened to drop on to Chief Justice Begbie's famous remark the "stretched reporter," and ascertaining that THE TIMES office contained a fair sample of this creature he posted his machine within striking distance. The next step in the grand consummation of the scheme was to secure Judge Begbie's pet aversion's attendance on the street, and so the cry was raised, "Frank Campbell is going to stand the cigars." At this the office was evacuated and the photographer got in his work. Two days later Mr. Graham handed us the counterfeits, and considering that the parties reproduced are unconventionally attired, their "domes of thought" shrouded in their hats, Judge Begbie would have no difficulty in identifying every one of them. On the whole we can cheerfully recommend the instantaneous method of photography as especially adapted for newspaper men who invariably are in a hurry. We grieve to learn, however, that the report that Mr. Campbell was going to stand the cigars proved a canard.

The Pianoforte.

Miss Laura M. Adams, teacher of pianoforte, 34 Cadboro Bay road.

THE SCHOOL BOARD.

Communications—Accounts—Attendance at Opening of Schools.

The regular monthly meeting of the School Trustees was held last night in the police court room.

Present: Chairman Hayward, Secretary Wolfenden, Trustees Morrison, Heisterman and Erskine.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Miss M. V. Storey, tendering her resignation as teacher of Spring Ridge ward school.

Moved by Mr. Heisterman, seconded by Mr. Erskine, that the resignation be accepted, and that the secretary be directed to convey to Miss Storey the trustees' hearty appreciation of her effective services as teacher of James Bay Ward School during the last five years. Carried unanimously.

A petition from parents of children attending the James Bay Ward School, signed Charles E. Redfern and 61 others, asking that in view of Miss Storey's past meritorious services and the confidence and esteem by which she was held by both parents and pupils, she should not be removed from the James Bay school. The petition was received and placed on the file.

From Miss M. V. Storey, asking the trustees to provide several small articles necessary for the Spring Ridge ward school.

Communication received, and secretary instructed to attend to the matters mentioned.

From Miss G. P. Storey, asking for the position of teacher of Spring Ridge ward school to be vacated by her sister.

Received and laid on the table.

From Miss A. Munro, teacher eighth division, boys' Central school, applying for promotion. Laid on the table.

Accounts for supplies, advertising, etc., to the amount of $826 68, were read.

The accounts were received and referred to the finance committee for payment if found correct.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mr. Heisterman moved, and Dr. Morrison seconded, that filters be placed in all the ward schools immediately. Carried.

Mr. Heisterman moved, Mr. Erskine seconded, that the secretary be directed to communicate with Mr. Pope, putting before him the advisability of the government purchasing the lot situated at the back of the Hillside ward school. Carried.

It was decided to hold a special meeting of the board on Saturday night to consider applications for the position of teacher of Spring Ridge ward school.

The meeting then adjourned.

Victoria Capital Abroad.

A company has been formed in this city which has asked Port Townsend for a franchise to establish and maintain a system of water works. The proposition of this company was made a few days ago. The company offers to supply water to families of not more than four persons for $1.25 per month, and for each other person in the family 35 cents per month. There is some opposition to the above rates.

The Colonist's Influence.

The Colonist, bemoaning the result of yesterday's election, says: "Even if the electors who voted had been better instructed," etc. This is a remarkable statement to come from the influential journal of this province. "Had the electors been better instructed the result would have been different." Who has been endeavoring to instruct the electors for the last two weeks as to how they should vote but the Colonist, and if it has failed wherein does the fault lie? The result of the election shows simply that beyond a certain point it is out of the power of the Colonist to mislead; that its columns, so oft of late have been put to "base uses" that with the masses its influence for good or bad is become nil. The Colonist may take the sweet unction to itself that as a manufacturer of public opinion, like all class organs, it is read only from motives of curiosity.

Salt Spring Island.

An entertainment was given at the Vesuvius settlement last Tuesday under the auspices of the church building committee. The old school room, which is now utilised as the public hall, was filled to overflowing, visitors being present from Victoria, Nanaimo, Chemainus, Thetis and Kuper Islands. The Rev. Mr. Kingham occupied the chair. The chairman opened the proceedings of the evening with a brief review of the work which had been accomplished by the members of the church at Vesuvius. During the past year a church had been erected and so far completed as to be fit for use. With the exception of $110, which was still due for lumber—but which was more than covered by a grant from the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, which could be obtained on its completion—the church was free from debt. Much, however, is still needed to be done in the way of completing and beautifying the interior of the church and making it a fit place for the worship of God. For the purpose of raising funds for this object, as well as keeping up a kindly, social feeling amongst the people themselves, the entertainment had been prepared. The programme, which was most successfully carried out, was as follows:

The programme being concluded the Rev. Mr. Roberts addressed the meeting. He said he was not only a near neighbor, but was also personally interested in Salt Spring Island. The island was one of his first camping grounds upon his arrival in the country eight years ago. He then gave some good practical advice to the bachelors of the island, humorously reminding them that it is not good for man to be alone. He congratulated the people upon the possession of their new church and hoped they would continue to work in perfect harmony in any work they undertake for Almighty God.

Mr. Booth and Mr. Schoville seconded a vote of thanks to all who had helped to make the entertainment a success, especially those who were good enough to come from a distance. The vote was carried unanimously.

The audience then rose and sang the National Anthem.

To the Electors of the City of Victoria.

GENTLEMEN:—

In complying with the request of a number of the citizens of Victoria to stand for the seat now vacant in the Legislature, I do so believing that at no distant date questions will arise requiring careful consideration, and calm and just decision. Many of the late actions of the Provincial Government have not met with the approval of the majority of our citizens, notably the amendments to our school law. The amendment to our Public School Act of 1888, where it provides that the cities are called upon to pay the expenses of operating their schools, and also enacting that the cities shall pay one-third of the salaries of their teachers, is, I consider, a law unfair and unjust. If elected as your representative, I shall endorse the action of our city aldermen, in refusing to pay the expenses and portions of salaries demanded by the Government. I shall also, if elected, use my efforts to have the present School Act so amended as to eliminate many of its features, which I consider have been introduced to give power to the Government in matters which should be left in the hands of the Trustees—the proper representatives of the people in school matters. I shall always uphold our free and non-sectarian school system. As the School Act now stands it is in many respects merely a political machine.

I shall use my best endeavors to obtain a grant of land or money for the establishing of a University, to be erected and maintained in the City of Victoria, as it is time such an institution should be founded for the higher education of the young people of this province. Victoria being the capital, as well as having many natural advantages, is by far the most suitable place for such an important provincial institution.

I am in favor of subsidizing any railway asking reasonable aid, making Victoria its terminus. As the Canada Western Railway is now a matter of fact, by legislation passed last session, I shall, if returned, use my influence to have the same completed at as early a date as possible, with its terminus at Victoria or Esquimalt.

The land laws of our province should be carefully guarded; and I believe it is in our interest to conserve our timber lands, and that they should not be locked up in large tracts in the interest of speculators.

The development of the mineral wealth of this province requires our earnest attention. Legislation tending to this end will receive every assistance from me.

It will be my most earnest desire to have Victoria made as far as possible the point of arrival and departure for lines of steamers either from the Chinese seas or Australasia.

In a few days I hope to have the pleasure of addressing you on the various provincial questions. In the meantime I solicit your influence and vote. I am,

Yours respectfully,
G. L. MILNE.

To the Electors of Victoria City District:—

GENTLEMEN:

In accepting a portfolio in the Government, my primary object is the construction of another trans-continental railroad, which, penetrating the northern part of British Columbia, and opening up the important district of Cariboo, will traverse Vancouver Island, making Esquimalt or Victoria its terminus.

It will be my endeavor, should you honor me with your confidence by re-electing me, to apply the resources of the country, so far as can be legitimately done, in furtherance of this project, which as a private member I strongly advocated during the last session of the House.

It was upon this understanding that the Northern Railway should be a matter of Government policy, that I agreed to enter the cabinet.

I shall take the opportunity of entering into particulars at public meetings, which I intend to call for the purpose, during the course of the canvass.

I am, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
aug6 THEODORE DAVIE.
